Mark 1:29-39

Mark's gospel teaches that Jesus went to the home of Simon and Andrew, where Jesus healed Simon's mother. By evening the word of Jesus' healing power had spread, and others came who were sick and demon possessed.

Why do you suppose the people came to Jesus for physical healing? What did Jesus have to offer them? What does Jesus have to offer to us today?

Isaiah 40:21-31

Over many centuries these verses from the prophet, Isaiah, have become a favorite passage for many people. It is here that we learn of the promises and the power of God through the prophet.

What is the theme of vv. 21-31? How is the LORD described in these verses? How do these verses speak to you? How do these verses strengthen you?

Psalm 147:1-11, 20c

The writer of this psalm is praising the LORD specifically for his promises, his power, and his love for humanity. V. 31 is a metaphor that describes how persons, who renew their strength in the LORD, will receive his power.

How does v. 22 describe the power of the LORD? What is your reaction to v. 25? How does the LORD describe himself? Explain in some detail.

1 Corinthians 9:16-23

In v. 16 the apostle, Paul, describes the call God placed on his life, after he persecuted the early Christians.

To what has Paul been called, and what will happen if he does not honor God's call? Name the human qualities Paul describes in the rest of the passage. How would you interpret these things for your life? Have you become... ?
