Matthew 20:1-16

Jesus teaches through the parable as a vehicle for us to understand his time-tested principles for our lives. Folks in the first century clearly knew what he was talking about, and they were keenly aware of what he was teaching them.

How well do you perceive the underlying lesson in the teachings we find in our gospel selection for this week? Explain what Jesus is teaching here.

Jonah 3:10-4:11

This teaching from the minor prophet, Jonah, is about God's compassion on the city and Jonah's displeasure and anger.

Why did the LORD call upon Jonah? What did he send Jonah to do? How did Jonah respond initially, and what did God finally accomplish through him? How do we misinterpret and confuse what God may be calling us to do?

Psalm 145:1-8

Psalm 145 is a psalm of praise from David. All eight verses worship God, and these verses show that the author clearly recognizes God's presence in his life.

When we pray how do we recognize the power, the compassion, and the grace of God, as well as his desire to be in relationship with us? Explain.

Philippians 1:21-30

Paul teaches that he is ready to die for what he believes, and that he looks forward to the time when he will depart and be with Christ. Until then, Paul has an overwhelming desire to continue in the faith with the people.

How concerned should we be about what happens to our earthly bodies, and how we might continue to be workers in the field of the harvest for the LORD?
